

Long Island Vettes Weekly Outlook

October 15, 2010

Hello Car Guys and Gals;

Welcome to the latest fall edition of the LIV Outlook. On Saturday the Cruiser visited Johnny O'Connell, legendary Corvette Racer, at Kerbeck's Annual Toys for Tots event in Atlantic City. Attendance was down mostly because Dave had to cancel the popular open run on the Atlantic City Expressway. (local 50's refused to participate as in years past). Johnny is always a fun guy to hang with and is always willing to talk Corvettes, racing, sign autographs and pose for pictures. The Marines collected a huge sum of toys so all in all the event was a success. On Sunday, the Cruiser made his usual stop at the OBI and found the crowd a little lighter than usual, especially after 10 a.m. This Sunday, the gang should be shifting to the Captree Boat Basin, unless the State Park Commission changes it mind about ending the fee there. So if you hit the OBI and find the crowd sparce, head on over to Captree.

This week is also the annual Long Island Car Show at the Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum in Uniondale. This show is now presented by Motor Trend Auto Shows and is more polished than the shows of previous years. What the Cruiser finds cool, is that as part of this event GM will present their "Experience the Drive" event which is free for all adults. This year GM will have the following cars available for the public to test drive; Buick LaCrosse and Enclave Chevy Camaro, Equinox, Malibu, Silverado Hybrid, Tahoe Hybrid and Traverse and the GMC Terrain, Acadia and Sierra.

The Cruiser also reminds you that next weekend is LICOA's Atlantic Chevrolet/Cadillac Corvette Show, which is the last Corvette show of the year. And on November 7th Long Island Vettes and NCRS is having their cruise to Laurel Lakes Vineyard. This event is a fund raiser for the Wounded Warriors and is open to all cars and cruisers.

As always the Cruiser will be on the prowl and hopefully I will catch you next week. So
